

GALATAS IS IN A BLACK LIST

Galatas' residents managed to have their village enter in the black list of unwanted villages, Europe - wide.

It is now known all over Greece that a crime is being committed in Galatas for years. More than 300 animals have been poisoned and died in a horrendous way the past two years.

Are the residents of Galatas happy being first in this death list?

Are they proud for their fellow citizens' atrocious acts?

Do they feel brave when watching the animals writhing to death?

What do the citizens do against the killers that live amongst them? They know them and they protect them.

What is the Church' view over these crimes?

Where is the Mayor? Absent so far..

Where is the Prefect? The Police?

Who will ever s t o p the killings?

The animal welfare community is currently informing all touristic agents, that Galatas is a death village. Flyers will be distributed to the tourists visiting this village. We urge the residents to rise and protest against the killings, wonder whether these killings are honoring their village.

Is this their civilization?

Is this Mikis Theodorakis' village?

Are the perverted sick minds part of their culture?

We demand that the police will at last investigate these crimes, especially those that took place the past week, when more than 20 animals were poisoned to death.

The animal welfare associations of Chania and Crete